

Using your Android with d2u

Although we don't currently have an application for Android phones, it is very easy to use our service with popular devices such as the Samsung Galaxy S4, the HTC One and the Google Nexus 4.

Emailing your audio file to us

Select the Voice Recorder app on your Android device. This app is pre-installed to all Android phones and you can record, save and rename dictation files here.

Once your recording has been created and is ready to be typed, press the list button to view your recordings. Press and hold on the desired file for a list of options. Press the 'Share via' button, select the Email icon and email the recording to dictation@dictate2us.com. You will receive an automated confirmation email from our secure system.

Uploading directly to the d2u website

Android devices support Adobe Flash Player and HTML 5 so you are able to upload audio files directly to our secure website. Use the Voice Recorder app to create a dictation file before logging on to your d2u account and selecting the desired recording. You must have the latest version of Flash Player installed and it is always recommended that you are connected to your Wi-Fi to avoid data charges.
